

Roller balls are a sign that the surface snow is getting moist. As these become more numerous and grow in size, they indicate that the surface snow is getting wet enough to create shallow, loose snow avalanches. Photo: H. Coppolillo

Advisory Region
Bridger Range

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Tue Mar 13, 2018

