

A skier triggered this avalanche on his way back to the Mt. Blackmore trailhead. It broke on a NE facing, 38 degree slope. The skier was able to stop himself before getting strained through trees lower on the slope. The avalanche was 1.5 feet deep, 90 feet wide and ran for a few hundred feet.

Advisory Region
Northern Gallatin

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Sun Dec 13, 2009GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Mon Dec 14, 2009

Northern Gallatin, 2009-12-13